

About the Colleges

Sivanath Sastri College, a premier girls' college of Kolkata, also known as South City Morning College, owes its origin to the City Group of Colleges. This college has a long record of brilliant results and this claim is evident from its alumni crowded all over the world. Besides imparting instruction in the humanities and a few science subjects it has arrangements for full-fledged commerce education up to the undergraduate level. The prestige and pride of the college have been achieved through the consistent brilliant results of the students in the University examinations, successful placements and contributions of enriched faculties.

Heramba Chandra College, widely known as South City Day College, is a reputed co-educational institution under the City Group of Colleges. Located in Golpark, South Kolkata, it offers undergraduate programs (B.A., B.Sc., B.Com) under the University of Calcutta. The college, accredited with a NAAC B++ grade, is recognized for its academic quality, vibrant campus, and eco-friendly environment. With a strong placement record, it equips students to excel both academically and professionally.

Prafulla Chandra College, a co-educational evening college, receives a rich legacy of the renowned City College, South Calcutta Branch. It offers various undergraduate programmes (B.A & B.Com) and post graduate programme in Commerce under the University of Calcutta. The college maintains the record of consistently good academic results achieved by the students in the University examinations and their placements in different organizations.

Umeschandra College, a premier co-educational morning institution in Central Kolkata, owes its origin to the City Group of Colleges. It has retained the features of the Commerce Department with provisions of co-curricular and extra-curricular facilities. This college has the rich legacy of producing brilliant students who are serving the country in the field of business, industry and education.

About the Conference

In light of mounting global challenges ranging from climate change and environmental degradation to poverty and social inequity the call for sustainable development has always been more urgent. Businesses, as vital agents of change, are increasingly aligning with ethical, environmental, and social imperatives, adopting forward-thinking strategies to balance growth with responsibility. The international conference on “Business Responsibility for Sustainable Development” seeks to illuminate the path toward a future where purpose and profit coexist in harmony. Centered around six pivotal themes - Climate Action and Industry 5.0, Sustainable Strategy, Sustainable Entrepreneurship, Sustainable Finance, Sustainable Reporting and Data Analytics, and Sustainable Impact Investing—the conference aims to explore innovative solutions to mitigate sustainability risks while enhancing stakeholder trust. With businesses now spearheading efforts in renewable energy, ethical supply chains, and sustainable innovation, their capacity to drive transformative change is unparalleled. This gathering aspires to be a confluence of ideas and actions, inspiring enterprises of all sizes to embrace their role as stewards of sustainable progress and to integrate corporate responsibility deeply into their operational DNA—ultimately forging a world that thrives today without compromising the promise of tomorrow.
